Mark your calendar for Harvest Fest 2012, a first-of-its-kind Wyoming County culinary extravaganza, 5:30-8:30 p.m. Wednesday, September 12 at the American Legion Hall in Warsaw Village Park. More than a food tasting event, Harvest Fest will connect local growers with area chefs to create delicious dishes that celebrate Wyoming County "from field to table."

All proceeds will benefit The Arc of Livingston-Wyoming and the Wyoming County Business Education Council.

"With Harvest Fest, local restaurants, farms and caterers will come together in celebration of the harvest, and share their unique products and talents with the community," says BEC Executive Director Linda Leblond. "The event will showcase the power and diversity of our local resources, and promote togetherness throughout Wyoming County."

Taking part is easy! Participating chefs will be connected with local growers, who can help make the most of their recipes by supplying them with the very best farm-fresh ingredients. The resulting dishes will be enjoyed by hundreds of eager attendees at the Harvest Fest event, generating great word-of-mouth advertising.

Following the event, recipes, photos, logos, and biographies will be collected for a retail cookbook designed to generate additional, long-lasting exposure for participating chefs and farms. Chefs representing local restaurants will also receive Harvest Fest stickers that can be added to their menus to highlight their featured dishes.

Organizers are working diligently to make Harvest Fest an annual destination event, with food, live music, contests and fun activities for all ages. To learn more, or to become a participating chef or farm, contact Linda Leblond at 237-3010 of Arc of Livingston-Wyoming Residential Services Manager Donnyle Washburn at 786-9281.

Meet Sandi Duckworth, Wyoming County Business Educations Council's New Board President

Sandra (Sandi) Duckworth, Superintendent at Wyoming Central School was elected as the Business Education Council's new Board President at the 2012 Annual Breakfast meeting held on May 4th. Sandi has served on the board of directors since 2004. Serving as Vice President for two years and now President.

"I am married and the mother of two. Husband, Charles, and I reside in Wyoming County. Our son and his wife reside in Wyoming County. He works in the agriculture industry. Our daughter lives in Pennsylvania with her husband. They recently blessed us with a granddaughter.

After a career in private industry, I graduated from SUNY Geneseo with a Bachelor of Science in special and elementary education. I received my first Master's from Geneseo in special education. I was a long term substitute special education teacher at Perry Elementary for approximately one year. I also taught high school special education at Fairfield Area High School outside of Gettysburg, PA earlier in my education career. I was fortunate to secure a teaching position at Wyoming Central School as a special education teacher for eleven (11) years where I developed a life skills curriculum for the district. My students were early entrepreneurs - they learned and applied math, reading, science and social studies, technology and home/careers by established a bakery, a repair and craft business. My students also ran a greenhouse where they were able to do hands-on science, grow and sell plants and flowers. It proved to be a great instructional method for students who learn differently - a true business/education model.

I went on to SUNY Brockport to complete a second Masters program in Education Administration. I was able to do my internship at Wyoming working with the former Superintendent of schools, Bob McIntosh. I was named Principal/Superintendent at Wyoming in August 2004. I continue to set goals for myself every year. I am a life-long learner, enjoy kids and, as an educator, I always look for opportunities to connect education with the world of business".

"I'm looking forward to serving as the Business Education Council's President"

WNY Aviation Camp Soars into Action

The WNY Aviation Adventure Camp kicked -off Saturday July 7th at the Genesee County Airport. On Sunday, campers had the opportunity to visit the 1941 Historical Aircraft Group (HAG) Museum in Geneseo. They heard from tour guide Austin Hancock about the history of the planes in the hangers that are going through restoration. Austin Wadsworth provided complimentary tickets to the campers to attend the 2012 Air Show. WNY Aviation Camp is a groundbreaking one week overnight camp developed for Genesee, Livingston and Wyoming County high school students in grades 9,10,&11th grades. Aviation Adventure Camp is a structured introduction to flying and flight training. Students will explore and plan their aviation education and career paths through hands-on practical experiences. Students will be attending flight school training to qualify for actual flight time during the camp program.

The Totally Terrífic Duct Tape Store

Wyoming Central School 5th Grade Entrepreneurs Jordan Barrett & Kacey Pearce

The girls have made several things out of duct tape such as hair bands with flowers and bows, bracelets, electronic cases, pencil pouches and more.

Jordan and Kacey wanted to start a new adventure to coincide with the Two Week Projects at Wyoming Central. On May 14th the Lewis & Clark Adventures begin where the 5th & 6th Graders will have various projects to complete during school that are based in all the core subjects and seeped with Lewis and Clark Adventures. Since Lewis and Clark were adventurers Jordan and Kacey wanted to start on their own adventure and start their own store. Furthermore, they will be donating a portion of their proceeds to WCS for the supplies needed during the Two Week Projects.

The girls went around to the classes to show the Totally Terrific things that can be made of ducT tape and prove that ducT Tape isn't just for fixing things. Their store opens today and we have already had several calls to schedule appointments with these business"girls". Another really cool thing about their ducT Tape sTore is that if you want to special order any item you may do so with your choice of colors.

So as you can see this is an all adventure that includes everything from education, business, ingenuity, generosity and more. This is all their baby!

Perry Central Eighth Grade Students Earn the Business Education Council's Employability Certificate

Sixty four students in Angela Cain's 8th grade English Language Arts class participated in the Wyoming County Business Education Council's Employability Certification program. Linda Leblond met with the students in the classroom for 10 class periods to cover skills needed to apply for and get a job.

The final activity for each student was to take part in a "mock" job interview. Darlene Martin, Creative Food Ingredients; Molly Bodensteiner, Community Action for Wyoming County; Sam Monteleone, W.Glenn Sedam, Inc, and Jim Pierce, Wyoming County Business Center and Carrie West, West's Bookkeeping Services were the business partners that volunteered their day to interview each of the students.

Students that participated and completed the criteria for the program were awarded certificates in a ceremony held in the auditorium. Superintendent, Dr. William Stavisky; Principal, Katherine Waite; and Linda Leblond presented the certificate to each student.

Following the ceremony, students celebrated their accomplishment with a cake & punch reception held in the school library sponsored by the Business Education Council.

The Wyoming County Employability Certificate is the result of a strong partnership between the Wyoming County Business Education Council, local employers, school districts, parents, students, and the community.

Finding good, qualified employees is the number one complaint that employers have today. Competition is fierce and good jobs are hard to find, and in some cases harder to keep! Without a previous work history, many times students find it difficult to obtain their first job.

The Wyoming County Employability Certificate is a series of required activities, along with coursework that will show they have acquired certain skills, attitudes and behaviors which Wyoming County employers look for when they hire new employees. This will be something that they will continue to contribute to over the years as they gain more work experience, volunteer experience, academic qualifications and life experience.

Students who are seeking a job will benefit from obtaining this Certificate by having a distinct advantage over students who do not. Business Leaders are asking their future employees to understand and practice the traits of work ethic and "professionalism". This certificate will assure them that the perspective employee has developed and demonstrated these skills in their school.

program, Contact: Linda Leblond at 237-3010 lleblond@rochester.rr.com

Letchworth Student Graduates from

FastTrac "New Venture" Entrepreneurship Program

The Business Education Council (BEC) sponsored the first "FastTrac" scholarship to a high school student Justus Ryan. Justus graduated from Letchworth Central School this past June. Exploring her options and inspired by her family owning and operating their own business, she expressed an interest in owning her own business one day. Justus took advantage of the opportunity to learn first hand how to research a potential business and the process of starting that business.

The Wyoming County Business Center, the lead economic development entity for Wyoming County, took great pride on May 22, 2012 in having ten entrepreneurs graduate from its Spring offering of the Kauffman Foundation's FastTrac New Venture program. Participants in the program went through 10 fast paced and challenging entrepreneurship classes over a 10 week period that covered a wide variety of topics including analyzing the viability of the business idea, assessing the market place, cash flow projections, marketing, learning about the various legal structures for businesses and the development of a business plan. Jim Pierce the Program Director said "for some time now we have been trying to attract high school students into the program because they are a great source of new entrepreneurs for our County and is good way to keep our young talented people here, this year we were successful in having a senior from Letchworth Central School, Justus Ryan who found the program very beneficial to her future plans."

Gain valuable exposure! Make business connections! Support two great local causes!

Become part of Harvest Fest 2012, a first-of-its-kind Wyoming County culinary event!

5:30-8:30 p.m., Wednesday, September 12 American Legion Hall in Warsaw Village Park

Harvest Fest is a celebration of locally grown produce and delicious prepared dishes that spotlight Wyoming County "from field to table." Taking part is easy—with two convenient options!

• Option #1: Become a Vendor. You'll receive free booth space. In return, we ask only that you offer free tastings to Harvest Fest attendees. If that isn't possible, simply donate a sample of your product for use in a raffle to benefit Harvest Fest's not-for-profit sponsors.

Option #2: Become a Supplier. Let us connect you! Harvest Fest will feature local chefs, many from prominent area restaurants, creating mouth-watering dishes from your farm fresh ingredients. As an added bonus, if your ingredients are used in a Harvest Fest dish, you will be featured in a retail cookbook designed to generate long-lasting exposure for your farm.

Your participation makes a difference in our local community. Harvest Fest benefits the Arc of Livingston-Wyoming and the Wyoming County Business Education Council.

Hurry, space is limited! To get involved, contact Linda Leblond at 237-3010 or Donnyle Washburn at 786-9281 by Friday, July 27th!

The National Work Readiness Credential

The National Work Readiness Credential is one of the "newest employability tools" that addresses what employers are looking for in new hires.

What is the National Work Readiness Credential?

- A national portable certification that certified individuals have the skills needed for successful performance as entry-level workers. It was created by national, state and local leaders in business, government and labor.
- It provides universal, transferable and national standards for work readiness.
- It is a national online exam that is housed at EOC. It takes 2 1/2 to 3 hours to complete. Questions are based on the nine Equipped for the Future (EFF) standards that were identified by employers as the skills needed for entry-level jobs.
- Upon passing the exam candidates will receive the National Work Readiness Credential Certificate. Nine EFF Standards
- Speak So Others Can Understand
- Listen Actively
- Solve Problems and Make Decisions
- Cooperate with Others
- Resolve Conflicts and Negotiate
- Observe Critically
- Take Responsibility for Learning
- Read with Understanding
- Use Math to Solve Problems
 How to Prepare for the National Work Readiness Credential Exam?
- Four workshop sessions will be offered prior to the NWRC exam dates.
- Three sections of each workshop session will introduce the four core categories that address the nine EFF standards that the NWRC exam is based on.
- Students will select from the sections that best meet their preparation needs. Job Seekers Benefits

With the National Work Readiness Credential you can:

- Take the first step on a career path
- Demonstrate to employers that you have the skills to successfully perform in entry-level jobs
- Identify the skills that need strengthening in order to improve performance in the workplace
 Three Steps to Earning the National Work Readiness Credential Certificate
- Attend the Work Readiness Credential Orientation
- Enroll in the Work Readiness Credential Exam Preparation Workshops

2012 BEC Annual Meeting Award Winners

2012 Outstanding Program "Farm –to– School"

The Farm to School Program was formed in 2011 as an outreach through the Wyoming County Business Education Council and local agency partners to help connect local farmers with local school districts. It is a win-win situation when the schools are provided with a source for fresh, nutritious, safe food, and the farmers are able to recognize an additional income stream from sales to the school districts. The Farm –to– School Program was made possible with funding from United Way of Wyoming County and Wyoming County Industrial Development Agency.
